Accreditation

Canning College is a Registered Training Organisation (RTO) with the Training Accreditation Council in Western Australia. The Diploma of Commerce UWA Stream and Diploma of Commerce Curtin Stream are accredited courses through the Australian Skills Quality Authority (ASQA) and the Training Accreditation Council (TAC) in Western Australia. The two diplomas are Level Five (5) qualifications within the Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) www.aqf.edu.au. For international students, Education and Training International (ETI) facilitates the enrolment process in partnership with Canning College.

Diplomas are bestowed by Education and Training International partnered with Canning College on the recommendation of the Academic Advisory Committee consisting of staff from Canning College, Curtin University and The University of Western Australia. The Academic Advisory Committee assures the quality of the course through monitoring standards and controlling course content and assessments. The qualifications and performance of staff are also regularly reviewed by this committee.

Assessments

Each unit has a course outline and assessment structure. Every student is given this information on commencement. Final marks and grades are determined by performance in all assessment activities. Final results are expressed as a percentage and grade.

Assessment in each unit is continuous and includes a semester examination. Most units will be assessed through a combination of written examinations and coursework. Coursework may include group-based assignments, research assignments, presentations, laboratory and practical work. Every diploma student receives a Record of Results and successful students receive the diploma award at the annual graduation ceremony.

Articulation

Curtin University and The University of Western Australia guarantee entry into the second year of relevant bachelor courses for international and domestic students upon meeting the university's requirements.

UWA Business School

UWA Business School has a reputation for quality: quality in research; quality in teaching; and quality in the career outcomes for its graduates. Part of the reason for the quality of the School's outcomes is that its growth has been kept to a level where the breadth and diversity of the programmes offered at undergraduate and postgraduate levels has been constantly improved without undermining the educational experience and outcomes offered to its students.

The School has one of the highest entry score requirements of any such school in Australia, and this is reflected in the position of our staff and graduates. The UWA Business School also has the highest level of graduate employment in Australia, superior also to any of the other business schools in Western Australia.

Many of the academic staff in the Business School have an international profile, collaborating in research and teaching with some of the world's best universities. Amongst the staff are recognised authors, publishing results of their research and writing textbooks used by students in a number of countries. Benefiting from this, the School's graduates have received the foundation for successful careers in all major commercial and financial centres of the world.

The School is accredited by leading international agencies – EQUIS and AACSB.

Curtin Business School (CBS)

Due to its innovative approach and highly valued programs, Curtin Business School has enjoyed sustained growth. Curtin Business School (CBS) is the largest teaching division of Curtin University and one of the most comprehensive business teaching facilities in Australia. There are over 15,000 students studying courses in the seven teaching schools at CBS. The Business School provides a broad portfolio of graduate and postgraduate programs.

With a strong team of staff from international, academic, and professional backgrounds, the Curtin Business School offers programs at the cutting edge in business education. Its courses are distinguished by their applied and professional emphasis, flexible structure and direct corporate relevance. The courses provide students with a high quality business and management education, encompassing the necessary skills and knowledge to enable students to perform effectively at the highest levels in commerce, industry, government and the professions.

The three-year Bachelor of Commerce at Curtin Business School offers one of the most comprehensive business programs available in the region, with an extensive range of single and double majors specifically designed to meet the needs of industry. A common core (undertaken in the first year) provides students with a broad perspective of commerce, both in the public and private sectors. In subsequent semesters, students are able to focus on a specialisation by choosing single or double major.

More detailed information on the specialisations offered is available in the Curtin University Undergraduate International Prospectus or on the website at: www.cbs.curtin.edu.au

Canning College is a senior college in the Department of Education, Western Australia. Transition Pathways to University Degree - from 2014

Two Streams

The Diploma of Commerce was first offered in 1999. Since then hundreds of students have graduated and entered the second year at university. The Uni Direct Department at Canning College conducts the course and provides academic support services to students. Students are offered the choice of two courses in the Diploma Program:

- The Diploma of Commerce
UWA Stream: 52509WA
CCC: 079007G
- The Diploma of Commerce
Curtin Stream: 52510WA
CCC: 079010A

The Diploma courses are equivalent to first year university in terms of their course content and academic structure. Units are studied over two (2) semesters, with 2 intakes yearly in February and July. Successful completion of the diploma guarantees international and local students entry into second year of Bachelor of Commerce at The University of Western Australia or Curtin University. Completion of the diploma may also lead to second year at other universities, subject to a university's individual assessment.

Students completing the Diploma of Commerce gain advanced standing into second year of the Bachelor of Commerce course at UWA.

Uni-Transfer Program

Features of the Diploma of Commerce Course

Studying the Diploma of Commerce at Canning College provides students with the following advantages:

- High success rate
Currently over 85% of students are successful in graduating and gaining university entrance at second year level.
- Excellent facilities
Students attend lectures, tutorials, workshops on the well-equipped, university-style campus at Canning College comprising of a Library and Computing Centre. Being located adjacent to Curtin's main campus allows students to easily access most of Curtin facilities such as library, medical centre, bank, Curtin bookshop and cafes. Free campus car parking for Canning students. Canning students can use CABS - free Curtin Area Bus Service
- Easy access to Computing (Technology and Wi-fi)
Excellent computing facilities are provided at the College for student use including free wireless network. All students are provided with free access to the internet and wi-fi. Students use these facilities for preparing assignments, learning support and communication with teaching staff as well as family and friends. The College Intranet provides an extensive range of additional learning resources.
- Credit for Recognition of Prior Learning
Canning College recognises prior learning by acknowledging competencies and outcomes achieved (skills, knowledge and attributes) held as a result of formal training and education (both within Australia and overseas), work experience and/or life experience. Students who have successfully completed similar units of study at another institution may be given credit/an exemption for a module in the Diploma of Commerce.

• Small classes + Extra tutorial time = Success

There are real advantages in being part of a small and select program. The small class sizes ensure that students receive attention from the highly skilled lecturers. Lecturers really get to know the students and the small groups allow students to feel comfortable asking questions. Students also receive an extra hour of tutorial time than at university in each unit. This extra hour tutorial contributes to full understanding of the subject material. Students benefit tremendously from extra tutorial time, at no additional cost.

• Each student has every opportunity for success

(Emphasis on Student Support)
The College's International Office staff have been specially selected and appointed to provide international students with assistance and support in both academic and personal matters. This includes airport reception, accommodation and application for university entry. The Dean and staff of the Uni Direct Department are also available to provide guidance on academic matters and learning assistance.

Study assistance beyond scheduled classes is also provided to students. A mentoring program commences during orientation and extends into first semester. Staff are always available on an informal basis to help with learning strategies such as organising a study timetable, essay writing and examination techniques.

Additional English support is also available.

Other student support centres include:
Library
Learning Centre
Recreation Centre
Student Services Centre.

• Semester organisation

The Diploma of Commerce is offered over two (2) full semesters. This closely follows the Curtin University academic calendar.

The study program includes at least one week free from class in mid semester and a study week just prior to final exams. These breaks allow students to be fully prepared for assignments, tests and examinations, and to be less stressed. College staff considers the two semester structure to be the most educationally sound way of delivering course material to ensure maximum success.

• Fast Track option

The Bachelor of Commerce course at Curtin University can be fast tracked to 2.5 years. This Fast Track option is also available to students doing the Diploma of Commerce Curtin Stream at Canning College.

Students enrol into CBS Summer School which is conducted at Curtin University. In the Summer School students can study two (2) additional units which may include second year units. Over the period of one year a student may enter university with advanced standing for all the first year of a Bachelor of Commerce completed through Canning's diploma program, as well as two second year units completed through CBS Summer School.

• Teaching and Learning Methods

The diploma course focuses on teaching-learning methods designed to provide students with the ultimate learning experience by ensuring they acquire knowledge and skills in their selected units.

• Lectures

Lectures provide students with the structure and content of a unit. Students are expected to make their own notes summarising the key points covered in the lectures and read in greater depth.

• Tutorials and Seminars

Tutorials and seminars usually involve a small group of students and a member of the teaching staff. They provide an opportunity for further consideration of topics and questions regarding any complicated issues that have been covered in lectures. The major feature of tutorials and seminars is that students are encouraged to participate actively and positively during discussions through individual and/or group presentations.

These active learning activities help prepare students for university style learning and work place tasks.

• Laboratory work

Computer based laboratory work forms another essential part of teaching learning strategies and is employed widely in Business Information Systems and Business Statistics. It gives students the opportunity to apply their knowledge and develop practical skills - useful for higher level learning and work place tasks.

• Private study

Students are expected to do private study on a regular basis to support their lectures and seminars. All resources are provided and easily accessible at Canning College. The library caters for University level students.

Private study contributes to the development of time management skills and the ability to work unsupervised – both highly valued in a work place.

Scholarships - from 2014

Canning College provides six $4,000 scholarships for suitably qualified Diploma of Commerce applicants. Scholarships are awarded on academic merit at the time of application.

Testimonial

Canning College gave me a second chance to go to The University of Western Australia (UWA) through its Diploma of Commerce program after I was not accepted by UWA due to my Universities Admission Index (UAI) not meeting their standard. Since the first day of the orientation program, I knew I had made the right decision to study here. The staff and lecturers are very friendly and have great experiences in the area that they are teaching in. The great part is that there are students from all around the world in the Uni-Direct program. I am sure that this will be a great experience for me in the future.
